

Securitisation Fundamentals

4 CPD hrs

Overview

Securitisation is an important sector within financial markets, which have enjoyed enormous growth until the recent credit crisis. The industry now faces as a whole a challenging time. The landscape for how transactions take place has permanently changed, as have investor expectations.

It is now more critical than ever that all professionals working in Australian securitisation markets have an understanding of securitisation, its drivers, and the key players within it. It is also vital that anyone new to securitisation, or those working in a role that provides services, has a functional awareness of these key areas.

Objectives

This half-day workshop has been designed to provide a solid overview of securitisation, what it achieves and allows, who the key participants are, and the reasons for their participation, along with an understanding of what results from the securitisation process.

The workshop is a case-study based program, explaining the key terminology and concepts underpinning securitisation. It will leave participants with a solid foundation of knowledge of how this sector of the market operates, its purpose, and the current challenges it faces.

Securitisation Fundamentals will examine the following areas:

- What the process of securitisation is
- How and why the market has developed
- Key terminology involved
- The two dominant types of securities produced by securitisation - and how they are developed
- Roles played by main industry participants
- Key concepts critical to securitisation
- Current market trends and developments

Presented by

Presenters are drawn from experienced current securitisation practitioners, all currently working on market transactions. The course is typically presented by two of these securitisation professionals at a time.

Designed for

This workshop has been specifically designed for those who are working in securitisation or providing services into related areas, but are in non-practitioner roles.

If, for example, you are involved in administrative, marketing, human resources or IT roles within investment banks, trustees, rating agencies, accountants, legal and professional services firms, banks or mortgage originators, then this workshop will assist you to develop your understanding of this industry and core concepts. It is also a logical stepping stone if you hope to become a securitisation practitioner in your future career and are considering enrolment into the ASF Securitisation Professionals Program (which is mapped to a Diploma of Financial Services FNS 50107, a level 5 qualification under the Australian Qualifications Framework).
